ABOVE GROUND STEEL OR IN-GROUND CONCRETE

Riveer provides world-class containment solutions, whatever your requirements.

Our goal is always to provide the best solution for your needs. Whether you are looking for a permanent wash facility, an easily deployable wash rack system, or a way to retrofit an existing system in order to improve it's efficiency and/or EPA compliance, Riveer will design a solution that best fulfills your unique specifications.

Depending on your site requirements and limitations, we can design a containment pad that is either above-ground and made of steel or built-in and poured with concrete. Both options provide seamless integration with our washing and recycling systems, or with your pre-existing provisions.

If you're looking for a quick turnaround, you can install a Riveer Rack in a matter of hours without having to apply for permits. These bolt-together steel racks are sized to your exact requirements, and allow for expansion if needed in the future. If permitting is not an obstacle and portability is not a requirement, an in-ground concrete wash pad can often be a more economical way to go.

If you are also in need of shelter, lighting, air handling or mist containment, we can build a wash booth, hanger or facility for your wash operations.

All day long, there'll be one semi in the wash bay and 20 of them lined up. They just go one right after another. They love this darn thing."
